The words of “Hark the Sound,” UNC–Chapel Hill’s alma mater, were written in 1897 by William Starr Myers, a graduating senior. The Glee Club director asked Myers to put words to the tune “Amici,” and the song was first performed on June 2, 1897, as part of the Glee Club’s Commencement performance in Gerrard Hall.

Soon the song was almost forgotten. When a University quartet tried a few years later to remember the words, they could recollect only the first verse and the chorus of Myers’ original version. Two members of the quartet, Charles S. Mangum and Charles T. Woollen, added two verses to the one they remembered. Mangum later became a professor in the School of Medicine, and Woollen worked as the University’s business manager and comptroller.

HARK THE SOUND

Hark, the sound of Tar Heel voices
Ringing clear and true,
Singing Carolina’s praises,
Shouting N.C.U.!

Hail to the brightest star of all!
Clear its radiance shine!
Carolina, priceless gem,
Receive all praises thine.

Bryan Stevenson is a renowned public interest lawyer and the founder and executive director of the Equal Justice Initiative. The Alabama-based Equal Justice Initiative is a human rights organization that has won major legal challenges eliminating excessive and unfair sentencing, exonerating innocent death row inmates, confronting abuse of the incarcerated and the mentally ill, and aiding children who were prosecuted as adults. Stevenson himself has argued and won multiple cases at the U.S. Supreme Court, including a landmark 2012 ruling that banned mandatory life-imprisonment-without-parole sentences for children 17 and younger.

Stevenson has also started anti-poverty and anti-discrimination efforts that challenge inequality in the United States. In 2018, he and the Equal Justice Initiative opened the Legacy Museum: From Enslavement to Mass Incarceration and the National Memorial for Peace and Justice. Both are part of the Equal Justice Initiative’s effort to create new spaces, markers, and memorials to address the legacy of slavery, lynching, and racial segregation.

Stevenson’s award-winning memoir, Just Mercy, is a New York Times bestseller that won the 2015 Andrew Carnegie Medal for Excellence in Nonfiction and was adapted into a 2019 movie of the same name. The book examines injustices in the United States judicial system, with a focus on Stevenson’s efforts to overturn the wrongful conviction of Walter McMillian. Stevenson’s work is also captured in the HBO documentary True Justice, which is told primarily in Stevenson’s words and has won several awards, including an Emmy for outstanding social issue documentary.

Stevenson visited Carolina in 2015 to speak to about his work and Just Mercy, and the campus community was invited to read the book as part of The Tar Heel Family Reading Program in 2020.

“I’m always excited to speak to college graduates, especially now when there are so many challenges we face in our nation and globally,” Stevenson says. “This generation will have to address critically important issues, and while Commencement is an end, it’s also a beginning of what kind of world graduates will create.”

Stevenson says he has always appreciated Carolina’s achievements, although his admiration for the University’s success began on the basketball court and grew to include its academics and mission.

“It started as a child for me when we watched ACC basketball games. I admired Dean Smith and many UNC players,” Stevenson says. “But working with legends like Julius Chambers, Jack Boger, and Ted Shaw also made me think of UNC as a place where great teaching was taking place. North Carolina has a rich history that is key to the future of America, and I think UNC has a central role to play.

“I’d like graduates to be hopeful about the ways they can change the world, deepen our commitment to human rights and justice for all,” he says. “I’d love to reinforce the importance of creating lives that are healthy, whole, and purposeful.”
Alexander Julian was born and raised in Chapel Hill and entered UNC-Chapel Hill as a member of the Class of 1969. Venturing into design in the early 1970s, he is an autodidact who has personally designed over 130 different categories of products. The first time he went to design school was to teach.

Julian is the only Tar Heel to win USA Menswear Designer of the year six times and the only Tar Heel in the Fashion Hall of Fame, where he was inducted at age 33.

In 1991, at the request of Coach Dean Smith, Julian redesigned the men’s basketball uniforms and warm-ups pro bono, introducing the now famous icon, the Argyle, which he donated to Carolina. In 1995, he redesigned women’s basketball uniforms pro bono. He is currently working on redesigning the UNC-Chapel Hill Band and cheerleader’s uniforms pro bono.

At his beloved Carolina in 1980, he created the Alexander Julian Award for artistic excellence. In 1981, Julian designed the Official Chancellor’s Club tie pro bono, the first 60 of which “sold” for $37,000 each in today’s money. In 1985, he established the Mary and Maurice Julian Scholarships for undergraduates with financial needs. He was awarded the UNC Distinguished Alumni Award in 1988. He was chair of the Chancellor’s Club for Chancellor Paul Hardin from 1990–1995.

In 2009, Julian designed the bow ties and cummerbunds for the Clefhangrers acapella group pro bono. In 2012, at the request of Chancellor Thorp, he designed the “Alexander Moolian” cow for Cow Parade pro bono.

In 2011, Julian redesigned the Carolina Graduation Gowns pro bono, changed them back to true Carolina Blue, and changed the fabric to North Carolina-produced 100% post-consumer recycled poly, saving tens of millions of plastic bottles from the dump.

He has lectured to the undergraduate entrepreneur class on two occasions: the Di Phi Society on Argyle and Carolina Blue, as well as graduating seniors on dressing for corporate life. He was initiated into The Order of The Golden Fleece Society in 2014. In 2014, he also designed pro bono the ties and scarves for The Order of The Bell Tower student volunteers.

In 2016, he was made an Honorary Dialectic Literary Society member. In 2019, he designed pro bono the 50th Reunion Golden Anniversary Parade Ribbons for the 50th Anniversary celebrants.

He has seven children, four of whom are Carolina graduates, and recently moved back to Chapel Hill after almost 50 years in New York and Connecticut.
HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

DOUGLAS CARMICHAEL MCINTYRE II

Doctor of Laws

Throughout his life, in his professional, community, civic, church and personal activities — and through his exemplary public service — Douglas Carmichael “Mike” McIntyre II has relentlessly advocated for a better understanding of our constitution and legal system and made significant contributions to humanity locally, statewide, nationally, internationally, and on behalf of our university.

As a Morehead scholar, double Tar Heel, and congressman for nearly two decades, McIntyre advocated for marginalized and rural populations while reforming agricultural and economic policies, fought for federal recognition for the Lumbee Tribe and authored legislation for the tobacco buyout, and helped distressed communities in the southeastern United States.

Internationally, he promoted workforce development and agriculture — and represented our country on the Helsinki Commission, as co-chair of the UK and Scotland Caucuses and as vice chair of the Armed Services Subcommittee on Terrorism.

Earning national awards for economic development, coastal, agricultural, veterans’, senior citizens’, rural healthcare, law enforcement, youth sports, and parks and recreation issues, McIntyre was also honored by the Secretary of the Navy for work with the navy and marines and by the legal profession for strengthening democracy. Voted “Least Partisan Member of Congress,” he always emphasized “doing what’s best for the people back home.”

In North Carolina, he has preserved our beaches as environmental treasures, championed funds for our military bases, increased the number of veterans’ clinics, expanded healthcare for rural areas, organized business summits, promoted civic responsibility, coached our youth, mentored our students, and inspired our next generation of leaders.

A true servant-leader, Mike McIntyre epitomizes the very essence of distinguished public service.
Jonathan T.M. Reckford is the chief executive officer of Habitat for Humanity International, a global Christian housing organization that has helped more than 46 million people construct, rehabilitate, or preserve their homes.

Since 2005, when he took the top leadership position, local Habitat organizations in all 50 states and in more than 70 countries have grown from serving 125,000 individuals each year to helping more than 7.1 million people last year build strength, stability, and self-reliance through shelter.

After graduating from the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill, where he was a Morehead-Cain scholar, Reckford worked as a financial analyst at Goldman Sachs. He was also the recipient of a Henry Luce Scholarship, which enabled him to do marketing work for the Seoul Olympic Organizing Committee and coach the Korean rowing team in preparation for the 1988 Olympics.

He earned his master of business administration degree from the Stanford University Graduate School of Business before spending the first part of his career in the for-profit sector, including executive and managerial positions at Marriott, The Walt Disney Co., and Best Buy. While serving as executive pastor at Christ Presbyterian Church near Minneapolis, Minn., he was recruited for the CEO position at Habitat.

Reckford is the chair of Leadership 18 and is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and the Urban Steering Committee for the World Economic Forum.

Named the most influential nonprofit leader in America in 2017 by The NonProfit Times, Reckford is the author of Our Better Angels: Seven Simple Virtues That Will Change Your Life and the World.

He and his wife, Ashley, have three children and live in Atlanta.
Hilda L. Solis was sworn in for her third term as Los Angeles County supervisor for the First District of Los Angeles County on December 5, 2022, having first taken office on December 1, 2014.

As supervisor for the First District, she has been guided by equity, and she has enacted significant changes to assist and uplift the most vulnerable residents. This includes accelerating the county’s efforts to combat homelessness, authoring the groundbreaking Measure A to invest in communities without open green space, reimagining public safety by investing in “Care First, Jails Last,” expanding healthcare access in areas of need, and responding to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Prior to becoming supervisor, Solis served as secretary of labor. She was confirmed on February 24, 2009, becoming the first Latina to serve in the United States cabinet. Before that, she represented the 32nd Congressional District in California, a position she held from 2001 to 2009.

In Congress, her priorities included expanding access to affordable health care, protecting the environment, and improving the lives of working families. A recognized leader on clean energy jobs, she authored the Green Jobs Act, which provided funding for “green” collar job training for veterans, displaced workers, at-risk youth, and individuals in families under 200 percent of the federal poverty line.

In 2007, Solis was appointed to the Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe (the Helsinki Commission), as well as the Mexico-United States Interparliamentary Group. In June 2007, she was elected vice chair of the Helsinki Commission’s General Committee on Democracy, Human Rights, and Humanitarian Questions. She was the only U.S. elected official to serve on this committee.

Additionally, her public service spanned across the Rio Hondo Board of Trustees, both chambers of the California State Legislature, and the House of Representatives. She broke the glass ceiling repeatedly by becoming the first Latina ever elected to the State Senate.

A nationally recognized leader on the environment, Solis became the first woman to receive the John F. Kennedy Profile in Courage Award in 2000 for her pioneering work on environmental justice issues. Her California environmental justice legislation, enacted in 1999, was the first of its kind in the nation to become law.

Solis graduated from California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, and earned a master of public administration from the University of Southern California. A former federal employee, she worked in the Carter White House Office of Hispanic Affairs and was later appointed as a management analyst with the Office of Management and Budget in the Civil Rights Division.
Lucille Holcombe Webb, a native of Richmond, Va., has been a resident of North Carolina since she matriculated at North Carolina A&T State University in Greensboro, where she earned a bachelor of science degree. She received a master of education from State University at Oneonta, N.Y. and additional certification in administration and supervision from UNC-Chapel Hill.

Her career in teaching and administration spans some 40 years. She was a classroom teacher, department chair, and personnel administrator in the Wake County school system. Since her retirement in 1984, she has been a community advocate, devoting countless hours to helping others and working on boards, commissions, and task forces, and networking with organizations to plan, implement, and monitor programs that impact health, family life, and education.

A wide range of community organizations benefitted from Webb’s leadership, including Delta Sigma Theta, Girl Scouts, YWCA, The Links, Incorporated, Raleigh Human Relations Council, Healthy Mothers/Healthy Babies, and the N.C. Museum of History, to name a few. In every role, she worked to bring the right people together to make things happen.

Webb’s leadership in public health is national in scope. Through service on the Wake County Board of Health, she emerged as president and founding member of Strengthening the Black Family (STBF), a Raleigh-based non-profit focused on improving the quality of life in uplifting the Wake County minority community. The Kellogg Foundation tapped her to lead their Community-Based Public Health Initiative to address inequities in the health of the nation’s ethnic minorities. She is heralded by the Center for Disease Control and Prevention as an expert in community-based participatory research, and for building support for programs addressing chronic health challenges impacting communities of color. She was recognized by the National Community-Based Organization Network of the Community-Based Public Health Caucus of the American Public Health Association through the 2006 creation of the annual Lucille Webb Award.

Her collaboration with university partners at UNC-Chapel Hill has been extensive, representing STBF on the North Carolina Coalition of the Kellogg Foundation’s Community-Based Public Health Initiative, teaching and mentoring students and faculty with the community competencies they need to be successful community-engaged scholars; serving on the program’s National Advisory Committee and a statewide institutional review board; chairing the executive team for Project DIRECT, a diabetes research development project; and serving as community course director for the Faculty Engaged Scholars Program. Balancing these many roles, her insight, guidance, and skill in forming successful community-academic partnerships were key to the success of these programs and to advancing knowledge in addressing health disparities.

CEREMONY DETAILS

THE CHANCELLOR’S MEDAL

The chancellor’s medal, an emblem of the office of chancellor, is worn during the University’s ceremonial occasions. The sterling silver disk, which is three inches in diameter and seven ounces Troy weight, was given to the University by John Sanders, professor emeritus and former director of the UNC Institute of Government, and his wife, Ann Beal Sanders. Modeled by sculptor Pete Hinton and bearing the University seal, it was first worn by Chancellor Paul Hardin during the 1994 University Day convocation. The medal was recently updated with a silver chain of office that includes thin rectangles engraved with the names and dates of service of previous UNC chancellors. It also features links made in the shape of the Old Well and the Davie Poplar leaves, both icons of the Carolina campus.

THE BICENTENNIAL STAFF

The faculty marshal carries the bicentennial staff while leading the faculty procession on ceremonial occasions such as Commencement and University Day. The staff, commissioned for the University’s 1993 bicentennial celebration by John Sanders, professor emeritus and former director of the UNC Institute of Government, and his wife, Ann Beal Sanders, was modeled by sculptor Pete Hinton. It consists of a sterling silver three-inch-high replica of the Old Well mounted on a turned and tapered oak shaft. The shaft was made from timber salvaged from the 1822 section of Old West residence hall during its 1991-1993 renovation.

UNIVERSITY COLORS

As symbols of unity among Carolina students, alumni and fans, the school colors of light blue and white were first used around 1800 to distinguish between members of the Dialectic and Philanthropic Literary Societies. Throughout the 19th century, students were required to be members of either the Di or the Phi. The Di’s color was light blue, and the Phi’s was white.

At University commencements, balls and other social events, the student officials, managers and marshals wore the color of their society, blue or white. Because the chief marshal or chief ball manager represented the whole student body, not just his society, he wore both colors.

When the University fielded its first intercollegiate athletic teams in 1888, the question of what colors to wear had already been answered. Light blue and white had come to symbolize membership in the University, not in a single society.

THE UNIVERSITY SEAL

The University seal typically appears on diplomas and graduation materials, grade transcripts and documents that indicate accomplishment in or on behalf of the University.

The first seal of the University of North Carolina, designed in 1790, showed the face of Apollo and his emblem, the rising sun, used to symbolize the dawn of higher education in the state. The words “SIGUL UNIVERSITAT CAROL SEPTENT” (Seal of the University of North Carolina) surrounded the drawing.

A modification in 1895 added lighted torches of learning beside Apollo’s profile. Two years later another alteration replaced Apollo’s head with a shield on which the words Lux (light) and Libertas (liberty), separated by a white band running from the upper right to the lower left of the shield, appeared.

In the 1940s, some observers mistakenly claimed the white stripe on the shield was a bend sinister, a heraldic code that was demeaning. In truth, the stripe was a bar sinister and merely denoted a second or later son. Still, the direction of the stripe was reversed, removing any question of stigma.

Today’s seal is the same as the 1897 version, except the stripe runs from the upper left to the lower right.
ACADEMIC DRESS

The following information, based in part on An Academic Costume Code and Ceremony Guide (published by the American Council on Education), may be helpful in identifying academic attire worn during UNC’s Commencement exercises.

DEGREE CANDIDATES’ REGALIA

The University’s bachelor’s gown, designed by Alexander Julian, is both Carolina blue and truly green, as in sustainably made. The fabric for the True Blue gown is made from 100 percent post-consumer recycled plastic bottles (23 bottles for each gown) and is manufactured at mills in the Carolinas. The information about the gown’s sustainability is suitably printed directly on the cloth, without the use of an extra label. In addition to being dyed a custom Carolina blue color, the True Blue gowns also have a streamlined fit, with white piping along the yoke and two white panels in front. The tassels are blue and white, topped with a silver-colored Old Well medallion. An optional accessory is an embroidered white stole that the graduate may give to a parent in gratitude after the Commencement ceremony.

The untrimmed, black master’s gown has a hood and an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist, that hangs nearly to the ground; the back part of its oblong shape is square cut and the arc in the front is cut away. The hooded doctoral gown features three bars across each sleeve. In 1999, the Faculty Council authorized a special doctoral gown for Carolina graduates. It is Carolina blue, with facings and crossbars of dark blue outlined in white piping. The facings bear the shield of the University supported by the torches of learning.

The hoods of master’s and doctoral degree candidates vary in color according to the field of study (see list on the right).

FACULTY REGALIA

Faculty wear the regalia of the institution that conferred their highest degree. The doctoral gowns are usually faced with black velvet, although the color of the velvet may vary according to the field of study. Hoods, which differ in length according to the level of the degree held, are lined with official colors of the university or college that conferred the degree, usually with one color forming a chevron pattern over the other. Some colors you will see on faculty and administrators’ robes are, for example, the crimson of Harvard, the maroon of Chicago, the orange and black of Princeton, the dark blue of Yale, and the light blue and white of North Carolina.

Like the hoods of master’s and doctoral degree candidates, faculty hoods are edged and bound with velvet in the color appropriate to the field of study. The colors in the hoods and gowns of faculty and administrators represent the fields in which degrees were taken.

THE BELL TOWER

The Morehead-Patterson Memorial Bell Tower was given to the University in 1931 by John Motley Morehead III and Rufus Lenoir Patterson. Its 14-bell carillon rings both manually and electronically to call students to class, provide twilight music and serenade the dispersing crowd after football games.

CANDIDATES FOR BACCALAUREATE DEGREES

MAY 2023

DEGREES WITH DISTINCTION

To graduate with distinction or with highest distinction, undergraduate students must have completed at least 45 academic hours at UNC-Chapel Hill and have an overall grade point average of at least 3.5 or 3.8, respectively.

HONORS CAROLINA

Honors Carolina is an outstanding collection of courses, special events, and learning opportunities geared toward the top students at Carolina. It is the University’s way of investing in exceptional undergraduate students by providing academic and non-academic challenges and opportunities, both inside and outside the classroom. Honors Carolina students receive priority registration for more than 160 Honors courses each year. These are small classes, taught by professors who encourage classroom discussion and hands-on research.

Students who wish to graduate from Carolina “with Honors” or “with Highest Honors” must complete a senior honors thesis project in their major field(s) of study. Such students need not have been members of Honors Carolina. They must, however, meet academic eligibility standards set by Honors Carolina and the individual departments, curricula, and professional schools that sponsor senior honors thesis programs. Senior honors thesis students must complete an original and substantial research, performance, or creative project under direct supervision by a faculty advisor. Upon the completion of their projects, students must pass an oral examination or other appropriate form of evaluation.
